CONSIDER MARYLAND TOURS

COLLEGEBOUND'S COLLEGE TOUR TO MARYLAND'S COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES

COLLEGEBOUND FOUNDATION

Press Release

For Immediate Release

Coppin State University, Morgan State University, Towson University, Stevenson University, Frostburg State University, Bowie State University, University of Maryland College Park, St. Mary's College of Maryland, University of Maryland Eastern Shore and Salisbury University have one thing in common this spring—Baltimore City Public School System african american junior males are touring their campuses.

High school junior males from each of the 28 high schools CollegeBound serves are exploring the world of college by learning first hand unique differences found on every campus.

These most likely first generation soon-to-be college students will each be required to fill-out three college applications with transcripts attached and access their high school transcript prior to going on the tour. They must also exhibit a GPA of 80 or better and have strong PSAT scores.

Young men who previously couldn't quite imagine themselves on the grounds of a large university or walking cross campus to go to class will suddenly imagine themselves really doing it...really making the dream of college a reality.

The College Tour experience is often the defining moment for a CollegeBound scholar.
