COLLEGEBOUND & CARVER PROUDLY ANNOUNCES THEIR TOP COLLEGE STUDENTS - ALL ARE AFRICAN-AMERICAN MALES

COLLEGEBOUND FOUNDATION

Press Release

For Immediate Release

This year's Carver senior class in many ways is not unlike those in the past – females outrank males in significant numbers. What is extraordinarily different is that the top four seniors academically are males and ten of the top twenty-one seniors academically are males.

This success story is significant in that nationally – black males statistically are often found in the lower academic rankings. Carver's Principal, Michael Frederick – “These guys are special because they are so mature and they are so ready to go to college.” CollegeBound's Carver College Specialist, Djenaba Bahar – “Working with these young men for the past three years has been rewarding. This experience has reaffirmed what I already knew, that there are many young African-American males who are intelligent, respectful, and are taking steps to obtain their goals, thus improving the quality of their lives.”

Of these top four – Mark (Jackson) is number one in the class, is the CBF Scholar of the Week for Carver, and is headed to Frostburg State University; Warren (Skinner) is also headed to Frostburg State University; Stephinol (Lewis) will be at Towson University; and Hayward (Scott) has decided on Morgan State University. Also, all are members of Carver's CollegeBound College Club.
