What College Means to Me: To me, college means access to opportunity. I distinctly recall the excitement I felt when I was accepted to UMBC. At that time, I thought I had an idea of how college would prepare me for a career, but I did not fully appreciate how it would prepare me for life. While I learned a great deal in my academic classes, my daily interactions with professors and classmates from around the world helped me to gain a greater understanding of the world beyond my East Baltimore neighborhood. Now as a seventh year associate at Gordon Feinblatt LLC, I draw upon the formal and informal lessons learned at UMBC. I feel extremely blessed to be a CollegeBound alumna and to have the opportunity to provide the next generation of CollegeBound scholars the opportunity to fulfill their dreams.

The Lawyers' Campaign for CollegeBound: For 26 years, CollegeBound has helped tens of thousands of low-income and first-generation Baltimore City students realize their dreams of a college education. This year, Rosedale Federal Savings & Loan will maximize your contribution through an unprecedented $100,000 Challenge Match. By giving to the Lawyers' Campaign, you're giving young people the chance to transform their own lives, to increase their opportunities, and to enrich the social and economic fabric of our city.
